If the application is integrated with the development plans, it is possible to include the elements of the individual development plan of an employee in the evaluation process. It is possible to add elements of the individual development plan to the evaluation document of an employee or configure the evaluation model so that all elements of the development plan in a development plan of the employee are integrated into the evaluation document. The customization settings necessary at the evaluation model level are carried out when sets and criteria of criteria are set. It is possible to include the elements of the development plan in the evaluation model as fixed or free improvements by incorporating the relevant bads implementations available in the SAP standard system. If you use the fixed improvement, all the elements of the individual development plan of an evaluation that are found in the validity period of the evaluation model are added to the evaluation document. These articles are integrated using the Badi Add_in_Devance implementation. If you use a free improvement for integration, the user can select the elements of the individual development plan from a dialog box and then add them to the evaluation document. Badi add_in_devplan_station implementation is available for the integration of these elements of the development plan. The items of the development plan offered for the selection in the dialog box must also meet the prerequisites listed below. In addition, all articles that have already been included in the document are not offered for the selection. Note that it does not make sense to simultaneously integrate a fixed and free improvement for any development plan contained in the fixed improvement are not available for selection when using free improvement.
